BERLIN, Via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Nov. 16.—A report received here from Geneva declares that the British cruisers Falcon, Brilliant and Rinaldo have been disabled by German guns along the Belgian coast, according to an official statement issued today.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Biting gales, driving before them hail, rain and snow from Nieuport along the entire left wing of the allied army, have brought to the fighting line in Belgium and France conditions which are causing the war office the greatest concern.

The attacks of the Germans has slackened owing both to the inundation of additional territory and the storm. It is realized, however, that under present conditions, danger in the British and French ranks of an epidemic must soon become acute.

The suffering of the men is intense. With the ground sodden from the heavy rains and snow falling, the death rate from sickness will be greatly increased.

The Germans are now assailed by fire and water. Virtually marooned in some places by the flooding of the lowlands, they are subjected to a terrible artillery fire from the allied lines and hold their positions only by the greatest show of bravery at terrible cost.

The combat is now largely confined to artillery duels.

Under such conditions as now prevail along the main battle line, burial of the dead is practically impossible, and in the Yser villages and mired roads, are bodies of men and horses. Many guns from which the Germans have been driven, remain where they stood, the British being unable to drag them from the mire.

Reports received today from Bergen declared that submarines have been sighted off the northwest coast of Norway. An aeroplane is also declared to have been seen south of Bergen. These reports were taken here to indicate that the Germans have established submarine stations in that vicinity.

SNUFFBOX SAVES LIFE

KEILHEFER, Minn., Nov. 16.— Harold Holt, homesteader, is alive at his home near here today because he used snuff. While hunting deer he crawled up on a stump. Slipping the entire charge of a shotgun was expelled against his breast. A snuff box in his breast pocket diverted the shot.

Weather Conditions

A vast field of high pressure covers the country from the Pacific coast to the Mississippi valley and moderately low temperatures are recorded throughout the plains states and Mississippi valley; the lowest report is 6 degrees below zero at Sheridan, Wyo. An area of low pressure is moving down the St. Lawrence valley and high temperature prevails in the north Atlantic states, with rain.
The weather high will dominate the conditions in this section tonight and Tuesday and generally fair and cool weather may be expected, with strong westerly winds diminishing.

SMOKE GOES UP CHIMNEY JUST SAME AS ADOLPH SAVES JOHN FROM RIVER

"And the smoke goes up the chimney just the same," sang Adolph Schroeder, chief engineer as the pleasure vessel rounded to last night for her anchorage in the boathouse below the Sta-rite engine factory.

SPLASH:
"Just the same, just the same," caroled Mr. Schroeder, reaching a muscular arm over the side, and dragging from the chilly deep one John Utermoehl, erstwhile secretary of the La Crosse board of trade and Hans Motor Equipment company. Mr. Utermoehl, crawling over the ice-encrusted bows of the storm-tossed ship to open the doors of the boat house, had made a mis-step, and plunged into twenty feet of swiftly moving Mississippi river, but there was never a false note in the melody of the chief engineer. He was so horrified by the sudden projection of possible tragedy into the jollity of his mood that his mental processes hung fire, and his voice mechanically continued his song as he dragged his friend from the clutching current.

Carnegie medals will also be awarded to Messrs. A. W. Lan-genbach and W. F. Hurlgen, who assisted in the rescue.
Mr. Utermoehl, wet and cold, was none the worse for his experience today, although a heavy overcoat, which came very near being its owner's undoing, was at the tailor's.

The party was returning from a day's outing at Birchwood, the Dollert cottage near Eagle bluff.

FLOOD MORE GROUND WIPING OUT ENTIRE REGIMENT IS REPORT

(BY A UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT)
PARIS, Nov. 16.—An entire German regiment was destroyed north of Bixchoote when the allied troops again flooded the district in which the bitter fighting for the line to the coast has been in progress for the past month.

This was declared today in official communique issued by the war office.

Flood More Ground
About five miles has now been added to the flooded area, according to the official announcement. The inundated district heretofore has been extended to Dixmude, but it is now south of that point and continues to within three miles of Bixchoote, or to the forest of Houthuist.

It was there that the German regiment was destroyed in the rush of water which swept through the trenches.

The renewal of the attack upon Dixmude during last week was made possible for the Germans by the receding of the waters which poured over the lowlands when the Belgians first flooded the district. More ground is now being inundated, however, as a part of the defense measures.

In trenches filled with water and swept by rain and snow driven before a gale from the sea, the allied and German armies continue their struggle for possession of the line leading to the coast cities of Dunkirk and Calais.

Heavy artillery fire has marked the fighting for the past twenty-four hours, it was stated at the war office today, weather conditions preventing successful work by infantry.
The Germans are now struggling to regain a foothold on the left bank of the Yser.

The official statement announcing that the Germans have been driven back to the right bank of the canal all along the line resulted in the greatest satisfaction here. The enemy paid terrible toll for the ground they held on the left bank. It was only by constantly pouring men in massed formation through the fire of the allied guns which mowed down hundreds that a foothold was gained.

The condition of the Yser is a constant menace to both armies, owing to the danger of an epidemic of disease. The fighting which resulted in the driving of the Germans from the left bank has again filled the canal with bodies of men and horses. Germans who were captured declared they literally crossed upon bridges of their own men and horses.

from now on money will be a little tavian National about $33,000.

ANCIENT JOKE IN REAL LIFE HERE

That for which many spinsters are alleged to have prayed was found under a bed at the Nagle boarding house, 623 Mill street, Sunday night.

You've guessed it. "It" was a man.

At central police station, where he was hauled after the neighborhood had been aroused by the screams of a woman boarder, he gave the name of Claude W.
Nichols, and claimed to be a native of the state of Wyoming. He gave no explanation of his presence in the boarding house.

No, you're wrong. It was not an "old maid" but a very young and pretty girl who discovered the marauder.

SIX THOUSAND BACK AT WORK

Mills Started in all Lines Indicating a General Increase of Prosperity

GARY, Ind., Nov. 16.—Six thousand men went back to work at the Gary Steel mills today after an enforced idleness of several weeks. A general improvement of business in the steel industry officials of the big corporation had said was responsible for the resumption.

"The bottom has dropped out of the business depression in the United States," said an official of the steel company. "From now on we expect an upward trend in the business thermometer all over the nation."

The men who went back to work today were set at work in the steel mills, the tin plate mills and the plant of the American Bridge company, indicating general improvement. Small steel products for agricultural implement factories, steel and iron plates for ore steamers and many small jobs from the Pittsburgh mills are expected to come here while the eastern mills are turning out armor plate for the allies. Parts for automobiles also will be turned out at the plants which are now running at from sixty to seventy per cent of the normal capacity.

"The railroads have not yet begun placing orders because of their financial difficulties, but they must soon begin buying rails," said the steel company official. "Buying will be in large quantities because many of the roads have neglected to purchase at all during the period of depression. When the railroad orders begin to come in, prosperity can be said to have returned to the steel business."

"BOBS" MILITARY IDOL OF NATION

Made Himself Almost Unpopular in Late Years by Advocating Conscription for England

LONDON, Nov. 16.—"Bobs" died last night. He died at the battle front, where a soldier would prefer to die. "Bobs"—Lord Roberts—hero of the South African war and retired field marshal of the British forces, the military idol of the generation, expired at 8 o'clock last night in France, where he had gone, in spite of his 82 years, for one last look at Tommie Atkins and the Indian troops in action—for one last smell of gunpowder on the firing line.

London was stunned when the war bulletin made public this news last night. A telegram from General Sir John French, commanding the British expeditionary force on the continent, told of Lord Roberts' death.
The immediate cause was pneumonia. It was stated that Lord Roberts had contracted a chill Thursday while visiting the British troops. He died after an illness of only two days.

Dampness Overwhelms Veteran
The terrible dampness of the continental battlefield overwhelmed the aged veteran, who in younger days had withstood the scorching suns of India and the rigors of campaigning among the kopjes of South Africa.

"Bobs" was colonel-in-chief of the Indian troops, with whom he was making a brief visit.

The first intimation that he even expected to leave England came from the war bureau three days ago when it was said he intended to visit the Indian force in France.

Probably no soldier of modern times has such a record as the revered Lord Roberts.

Awaits Hero's Body

England today awaited in sorrow the body of "Bobs." It is expected that today or tomorrow the remains of Lord Roberts will reach Folkestone from France, where he died among the British soldiers.

Funeral services will probably be held at St. Paul's, where the funerals of Wellington, Nelson and other British heroes have been held. Reports have been circulated, however, that Lady Roberts desires a private funeral and that burial will be at All Saints church, Ascot, and not Westminster Abbey.

One of the questions being discussed by Englishmen today is whether the present war might have been averted had his advice as to army matters been followed. For years "Bobs" constantly preached conscription, traveling from one end of England to the other, urging that England maintain a great army.

Urged Great Army
He regarded a great conflict inevitable and insisted that England's best assurance of continued peace would be a great army. He practically predicted the present war, but his military fanaticism in constantly urging conscription made him rather unpopular.

It is an open question with Englishmen whether Germany would have entered upon the war had England been ready with an efficient fighting force.

Messages of condolence have been sent Lord Roberts' widow and daughter by King George, General Sir John French and others from all parts of the empire.

NELS JENSEN DIES

Nels Jensen, aged 45, 2825 Mormon Coulee, died at his home at 4:30 yesterday afternoon after a short illness. Death resulted from lung trouble. Mr. Jensen was born in Denmark and has spent the greater part of his life in La Crosse. He is survived by a widow, three sons and one daughter. Funeral services will take place Wednesday afternoon from the home.

000,000 a day over normal expenditures.
The additional vote of credit asked by the premier was for $1,- 120,000,000. This includes loans of $151,250,000 to the self-governing colonies.

GUTIERREZ GOES TO CAPITAL

Prepares to Leave Aguas Calientes to Take Over Authority for the Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.— Confirmation of United Press dispatches from El Paso showing Gen. Carranza's agreement with General Gutierrez to retire as provisional president of Mexico, were received by the state department this afternoon. Carranza, the messages said, had agreed to leave Mexico and give up his power. Secretary of State Bryan held that this meant restoration of peace in the republic.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 16.—General Francisco Villa, commander in chief of the military forces of the Gutierrez faction in Mexico, has consented to resign his command and leave Mexico in order that a peaceful settlement of Mexico's internal difficulties may be effected.

This information came today in a statement Provisional President Eulalio Gutierrez telegraphed to Enrique C. Llorente, diplomatic agent of the Aguas Calientes convention in Washington. Gutierrez said he had personally placed before the Villa proposition of Gen. Carranza, that Villa expatriate himself, and the northern leader replied that he would be willing to sacrifice all if it meant peace for Mexico.

Carranza had telegraphed Gutierrez direct that if Villa fulfilled these conditions he (Carranza) would immediately transfer his government to Gutierrez and would also leave Mexico.

Gutierrez, accompanied by the entire Aguas Calientes peace convention is preparing to leave Aguas Calientes today for Mexico City to complete formal preparations for the transfer of authority. The details will be worked out in the national capital.

When Villa intends to leave Mexico and where he proposes to go have not been announced.

Guarantees Safety

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Positive guarantee that the lives and properties of all foreigners in Mexico will be protected by the administration of Provisional President Eulalio Gutierrez has been received by President Wilson. In addition Gutierrez emphatically declares that dictatorship has ended in Mexico for all time and that the military factions now in control realize only a government directly commissioned by the Mexican people themselves can hope to reorganize Mexico and place the republic on a stable basis.

This guarantee, sent direct by General Gutierrez to the president following the report that both Generals Carranza and Villa have agreed to eliminate themselves from the situation, increased the belief in administration circles that the era of bloodshed is at an end and that there will be no further fighting.

Asks Recognition

Gutierrez makes an indirect request for recognition by suggesting that the United States approve the action of recent peace conference.
There will be no action taken in this connection for the present. Gutierrez also asked for the removal of the troops from Vera Cruz, but this already had been ordered.

The Gutierrez letter is lengthy. It said at the outset:

"The republic has undergone during the last few years a terrible crisis in which the democratic ideas of government and the yearning of the people for justice and economic improvement have at last been vindicated. The civil strife has at last ended with the overthrow of Huerta's dictatorship."

Ploded Reform

The calling of the peace convention is then reviewed and it is stated that it was made necessary in order that the "entire military factions attached to the revolution could have say in the new plan of government."
The fact that Gutierrez was elected

Pure food authorities of highest degree testify to the merits of oleomargarine. The following quotations are typical:

"Perfectly pure, wholesome and palatable."—Prof. J. W. L. Arnold, professor of Physiology, University of New York.

"Contains essentially the same ingredients as butter made from cow's milk."—Prof. W. U. Atwater, director U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station.

"It is free from all objections. There are a large number who imagine oleomargarine is made from any old scraps of grease, regardless of age or cleanliness. The reverse is the fact. Good oleo can be had only by employing the very best and freshest of fat."—Dr. A. G. Stockwell in Scientific American.

"Essentially identical with best fresh butter and superior to much of the butter made from cream alone."—Prof. Henry Morton, Stephens Institute of Technology.

"For all ordinary and culinary purposes, the full equivalent of good butter made from cream."—Prof. S. W. Johnson, professor of Agricultural Chemistry, Yale College.

"It is made only from the cleanest materials in the cleanest possible manner. Oleomargarine cannot be made from rancid fat."—Dr. Charles Harrington, Prof. of Hygiene, Harvard Medical School.

WHY BRIGHT'S IS THOUGHT INCURABLE

Bright's Disease is generally thought incurable, and largely because Digitalis and Basham's Mixture do not cure it. And why should they? One is for the heart and the other is a mild iron tonic. The reason nothing is given for the kidneys is that the pharmacopoeia has not contained an agent that by direct action on the kidneys diminishes albumuria. Hence the treatment is around the disease instead of at it. Given an agent that diminishes albumuria, then measures for the waning heart, etc., begin to mean something. The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to diminish albumuria in many cases of Bright's Disease IS A FACT IN PHYSICS established thousands of times and being constantly demonstrated. How can any one ignore a FACT IN PHYSICS when people are dying for lack of that very fact. It does not conflict, and can be added to the heart treatment, etc., commonly prescribed in Bright's disease. But many recoveries have been reported under the Renal Compound unaided in patients having fair hearts and recuperative power.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

CUPID ON SKATES

BY CECIL GRAHAM

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Cedar river was in prime condition for skating, and the young people for miles around were taking advantage of good ice and moonlight to enjoy the merry winter sport. The river above the dam was like a sheet of glass, and it sparkled in the brilliant moonlight like an inland floor of diamonds.

Keeping abreast of the times, the couples were skating the one-step, the hesitation, the fox trot and many other trots they had learned to step off on the dancing floor. There was no room for old Dutch roll and some of the one-time skater's fancy circular steps. The ice was filled with up-to-date young persons on skates.

Barbara Hamilton had been invited to join a skating party, and she had accepted the invitation with alacrity, for if there was one thing she had always done well it was to skate. She had come, two years ago, from Montreal to this middle western town, but the first season of her stay had not been a very gay one, and of the sport she loved—skating—she had had none. This was her first opportunity and she had anticipated it with unusual pleasure. Now she stood alone near the bank of the river watching the members of her party do all sorts of dance steps she had never even heard of, either on the ice or off. She had tried to skate with one or two of the young men, but when they found her starting off in the good old-fashioned gliding motion they were surprised and made apologies and excuses, and did not ask her again. It was as if she had tried to waltz or polka on a fashionable ballroom floor. She felt entirely out of place.

"Oh, Barbara," cried her hostess, stopping in the midst of an intricate one-step variation, "don't you skate?"

Barbara forced a laugh. "I have skated all my life, but I've never danced on the ice," she said.

"I'm sorry—so sorry. I never thought to ask you," young Mrs. Holt went on, pulling her skating cap more closely about her face and being careful to tease out a curl or two that might have been hidden by the act. "Your aunt said you were such a skater, so I was delighted to have you with us."

Barbara did not miss the "past tense" of the verb her hostess used, but she only smiled in reply.

"Perhaps Miss Hamilton would be one of the judges in the competition," suggested the pleasant-faced young man with Mrs. Holt.

"Oh, would you, Barbara?" Mrs. Holt asked quickly.

"If I could, gladly," Barbara replied. Anything was better than standing or skating alone.

"George Mason is to be one," the young man went on. "May I present him, Miss Hamilton, and you can talk it over? We've got to have the prize figures in ten minutes."

Barbara was left with Mrs. Holt while the young man skated off in search of his friend, the judge of the contest. "We needed another judge so badly. There are exquisite prizes for the couple who does the best hesitation on ice, the best one-step and the best fox-trot. The band is coming to play for us, and I think it will be oceans of fun," ran on Mrs. Holt, effervescently.

She was still talking when her partner skated up with a quiet looking man in brown skating costume. George Mason was duly presented and off in another whirl of steps.

"I'm afraid I'm a pretty poor selection for judge," said Mason, looking down into Barbara's face. "I abominate all this rattle-dazzle on skates."

Barbara gave him such a grateful look that he stepped back in mock fear. "You do?" she cried laughing.

"I do," he nodded. "Why? Am I such a social outcast for it?"

"You—you're the first person I've found tonight who didn't think me quite an antique for saying that of the new skating craze," Barbara confessed.

George Mason looked at her for a moment. "Shall we skate as we please and defy convention?" he asked.

For answer Barbara turned and crossed her arms, giving him her right hand in his right under her left arm and they swayed away together. Long graceful strokes and the wind at their backs soon took them far from the crowd to which they were supposed to be attached, but so busy were they with conversation that seemed to tumble from one subject gayly to another that they did not notice the distance they had gone.

Suddenly Barbara drew away from him and faced him, her hands still in his. "The contest!" she cried.

Mason whistled characteristically. "The contest—what contest? I told you I was a fine judge, did I not?"

"You are—we're a pair," laughed Barbara. "We must turn and go back at once. Hear the music! They've begun!"

"So has something else," retorted George Mason as they faced the wind together. "This bully friendship with you," he added.

"Thanks," said Barbara. Nothing else seemed to come to her.

As they skated against the cold, sharp wind, getting nearer and nearer the strains of music, their conversation grew less animated. It was enough that they were together in this glorious crisp air on so perfect a night, and neither one seemed to find it necessary to speak.

They were pounced upon veritably by Mrs. Holt and her partner when they skated into the little group near the bank.

"Where were you?" Mrs. Holt asked.

"We've looked everywhere," George, added the young man, who was still Mrs. Holt's partner.

"Too bad," Mason said, "but Miss Hamilton and I have been taking a bracer, an old-fashioned turn up the river and back. Where do we stand?"

"Over by the musicians," Mrs. Holt remarked. "And do your best—it's so exciting," she gushed.

"We will," Barbara returned, skating off beside George Mason.

I guess we can tell Grace when we see it anyway—even if we are antiquies," she laughed.

"I can—I've already given the prize in my own mind," the man laughed.

"That's not fair," Barbara replied, though she knew well what he meant.

After that they gave their attention to the figures and elected the couples who seemed most deserving of the trophies. Mrs. Holt and her young partner were not among the prize winners, for both Barbara and her colleague decided that their steps were too exaggerated for grace.

"And yet I'd like to give them a prize," Mason said.

"Why?" asked Barbara. "Because they introduced me to you," he said shamelessly.

"Oh," Barbara said, comprehensively.

The trophies were presented at the

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

End Itching Scalp and Stop Falling Hair—At Once.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

VARSITY BAND TO TRAVEL TO EXPO

Local Men Will Go with Tooters from Madison on Trip to San Francisco

KEELER MAKES "IRON CROSS"

Our Own Tubby One of Seven Men Elected to Senior Honorary Society

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—The University of Wisconsin Regimental band will make the trip to the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915. This was definitely decided last week by the committee on students' life and interests. The organization has already achieved more than a local and state wide reputation and the contemplated tour to the coast has been scheduled only after all angles of the project had been investigated and approved. The final details of the financing, discipline and personnel will be arranged by Professor Goodnight, dean of men. The route will be via the St. Paul and Seattle. About ten concerts will be blown off between those two burgs, stopping at either Yellowstone park or Glacier National park. After the concert at Seattle the band will embark for San Francisco. The return trip will probably be through the Panama canal and thence home by way of Texas, Albert Weimar and H. Ekstad of La Crosse will probably make the trip as clarinetist.

Iron Cross, the senior men's honorary society, has announced the election of the following members: William Azo Foster, Fred Menzo Hall, Edwin Stanley Hollen, Ray Monroe Keeler, Martin Thomas Kennedy, Ernest Otto Lange and Gustave de Neven Wright. The main requirement for this organization is that the candidate shall have been prominent in the student side lines, such as oratory, journalism or athletics. Keeler is this year's football captain.

Senator Theodore Burton of Cleveland will speak at the all-university convocation today on "The Growth of National Expenditures by River and Harbor Legislation."

The German side of the European conflict was presented at the Fuller Thursday night by Professor Eugene Kuchemann of the University of Breslau, who in 1912-13 held the Carl Schurz memorial professorship in the University of Wisconsin. "Germany's Moral Problem of Today," was his subject. Professor Kuehenemann is not an agent of the German government but is on leave of absence from Breslau and is touring the United States in a desire to put the German side of the conflict in a true light.

BRITAIN CALLS FOR MORE TROOPS

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 16.—Britain has sent another call to Canada for troops. Word received here today announces that six thousand additional men will be sent with the second contingent which sails in January, instead of the strength up to 21,000, instead of 5,000 as originally intended. Western Canada will furnish practically all or at least a large proportion of this addition, as all regiments are up to strength and many are on the waiting list. There are 10,000 soldiers drilling here at present, quartered in curling and skating rinks and in regular armories and barracks.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Electric Eel
Story—And the Frightened Fisherman.

Then He Plunged His Hand Back and Seized the Fish.

"KIDDIES, I'll tell you tonight about an electric fish," said daddy as the children snuggled up on the divan and made ready to listen to the evening story.

"Oh, daddy, I never heard of such a thing!" cried Jack.

"Well, kiddies, there are heaps of things you haven't heard about more wonderful than any fairy tale that can be written."

"The fisherman whom I am going to tell you about hadn't heard of an electric fish either, and he was one of those wise men who never believe what they are told."

"This fisherman had been in South America and had boarded a sailing vessel bound home. This vessel was filled with fish, and in a tank was kept a live eel."

"This fisherman boasted that, though eels might be very slippery, he had never seen an eel that he couldn't hold if once he could get his hands on it."

"But this is an electric eel," said the mate.

"Electric eel! There never was an electric eel!" cried the fisherman, and he laughed and laughed.

"He was so sure of himself and was so cocky that the mate of the ship began to feel like having a little fun with him."

"So the crew gathered around, and a bet was made that the fisherman couldn't hold the eel that was in the tank, though it was right there where he could get hold of it. If he could he was to have $5, and if he couldn't he was to give $5 to the crew."

"That will be dead easy," said the swaggering fisherman, barring his big brawny arms and looking around with a smile that seemed to say, "This is very easily earned money."

"He plunged his arms into the tank; then he drew back with a fearful yell."

"It's been charged with electricity!" he shouted.

"Then he plunged his hands back in again and seized the fish the second time."

"This time he received such a shock that it almost maddened him, and, howling with pain, he rushed to the side of the boat into the water."

"Of course he was rescued, but after that he was more inclined to believe strange things that were told him with authority."

"Each fish has some method of defending itself from its enemies, and the electric fish has about the best of all since it is a living electric battery."

"WHO GIVES HIMSELF WITH HIS ALMS FEEDS THREE"

Not the least noticeable characteristic of the splendid response La Crosse is giving to the famine call of Belgium is the number of small contributions that are swelling the fund. The blessedness of giving in a worthy cause comes home with as much force to those not plentifully endowed as to those more fortunate, on whom the only burden philantropy lays is in signing a check.

There is material for a score of "human-interest" stories in the pile of letters that each mail is increasing upon A. L. Goetzmann's desk.
And the point of each one of these stories would be the same point that Lowell made in "The Vision of Sir Launfal":

"The Holy Supper is kept, indeed,
In what we share with another's need;
Not what we give, but what we share.
For the gift without the giver is bare;
Who gives himself with his alms feeds three,
Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me."

APPRECIATION OF "PETE" YERLY

None will be surprised that The TRIBUNE is not in blissful harmony with all the political convictions entertained by Mr. Peter Yerly, but we should be unjust did we let this amicable though spirited disagreement blind us to the fact that as chairman of the republican county committee Mr. Yerly rendered a distinctive service.

The office of county chairman was fraught with unusual difficulties in the recent campaign, the differences between opposing factions having in many cases developed personal animosities beyond possibility of reconciliation. Chairman Yerly met this embarrassing situation with tact and impartiality that, in view of his own personal partisanship in the disputed matters, was admirable. His conduct has won him the respect and confidence even of those who do not share his political views. Some of us, who know Mr. Yerly better because of his connection with the late political unpleasantness, are grateful for the service which gave us the privilege of his closer acquaintance.

WITHOUT MONEY AND WITHOUT PRICE

If there be in all La Crosse one person in error upon this point, let his mind be disabused of the mistake. The Belgian flour relief is not a flour-selling scheme. The mills furnish the flour at EXACT COST OF PRODUCTION. Not a SINGLE CENT of profit is taken. Busy men are giving their time and brains to the work. The railroads are moving the merchandise FREE. The whole movement is pure philanthropy. It represents the spirit of Americanism.

THE "PLUG HAT"

The Southern Commercial congress has started a movement of considerable value to the nation, in that it presents an apparently feasible solution of the agricultural problem of the south, and a method of handling the rush of immigrants which the close of the European war, economists agree, is certain to bring to the United States. The southerners' plan, briefly, is to distribute these foreigners, most of whom come from agricultural districts in Europe, upon the unused farm lands in the south. To discuss ways and means of bringing the immigrants and the land together, a conference has been called at Washington December 12, to which officials and business men of the south have been invited.

It is to be hoped that the conference will be able to work out some practical plan. There are thousands of immigrant families already in our industrial communities that have been working and saving for years in order to return to Europe and buy agricultural homes. Many of these no longer desire to return, in view of the economic burden which the war will place on European countries. Some of these probably could be placed with profit, both to themselves and the south, on the southern lands.

If that forward pass had gone over for a touchdown everyone would be calling Bellows a great field general. And now listen to 'em!

sing a celebrated brand of smoking

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Might as Well
If they're bound to turn their continent into a wilderness,
Let 'em fight.
If they're bound to have starvation,
as an outcome of the mess,
Let 'em fight.
We have done all that a decent, upright people well could do; We have begged and we have pleaded that the time for peace was due.

But they seem to be determined all to see the matter through.
Let 'em fight.
It's a cinch that we can't stop 'em;
there is not a chance on earth.
Let 'em fight.
They are going at it harder, every day, for all they're worth.
Let 'em fight.
So there is no use in vain regrets or anything like that.
We didn't cause the trouble and it isn't ours, this spat;
So we'll gather in the commerce of the world and just stand pat.
Let 'em fight.

The Hydraulic Ram

She was a Delaware county girl.
She lived near Gaston, and was in Muncie with her escort, watching a piece of engineering work that was being done about a new bridge. Every once in a while there came a peculiar, grinding noise, whose origin she could not locate.

"Jim, what makes that noise?" she asked.
"Oh, that's the hydraulic ram."

"For the land's sake! Where do they keep him?"

Good Reason

The editor of the Currie (Minn.) Times says that he had an auto accident in the process of which his car performed a number of the latest dances, including the hesitation waltz and tango. He says that this is the only accident he has had in five years.

"Snacks, that's nothing," says the Round Lake Graphic. "There are hundreds of editors who can boast of never having had an auto accident during their whole lives. (Sh—)
They haven't got the auto."

An Awkward Answer

There are many good stories told of Sir Edward Carson's wit in various courts of law, but perhaps the best has to do with a witness he was once cross-examining, whose personal records showed him to be an ardent disciple of the bottle.
"They say, Mr. Witness," remarked Sir Edward, "that you are a very hard drinker. Is that so?"
"That's my business!" retorted the witness very indignantly.

"Any other?" asked Sir Edward.

Regain the Mastery Over Blood Trouble

No Matter How Disheartening
You Can Overcome It.

Blood disorders are quickly checked by
S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. It rushes into the blood and in three minutes has traversed the entire circulation.
It penetrates to where the blood is made, it washes out those spots and places where stagnation has settled. It cleanses the membranes, drives irritation from the joints, fills the blood stream with antidotal influence and from head to foot creates conditions that make for blood health. There are people in every community who know this to be true. They have used S. S. S. for severe forms of rheumatism, for indolent, ulcerated spots, for eruptive skin diseases, for any and all those bodily conditions caused by blood loaded with impurities. Being a pure product of Nature it can not hurt the stomach and has therefore been the refuge of a host of people misguided in their dilemma by first trying to become mercurial druggists which have claimed so many unfortunates. If the skin breaks out in a rash, if boils or other eruptions appear, if there are blood risings or any other indications of impure blood get a bottle of S. S. S. at once and use it. This department is best of help to blood sufferers. But don't delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. today.

cake with its decoration of 75 wax ed.

"Remember that a rolling stone not only gathers no moss, it also goes down hill."

Worse to Come

The regular trombone player of a Scottish orchestra was laid up with a cold, and the conductor reluctantly accepted the services of a brass band amateur. He was a little doubtful, however, as to the suitability of his substitute.

After the first performance the new player asked the conductor how he had done.

The conductor replied that he had done pretty fairly, but that perhaps he would do better next night.

The newcomer, eyeing him gratefully, answered:

"Man, ye see, the music is strange tae me the night, and I'm no just shair o't yet, but you wait tae the morn's night, an' ye'll no hear ane o' thae fiddles at a'."

The Cause

In a discussion of modern poets,
W. B. Trites, the Philadelphia novelist, condemned Alfred Noyes.

"Noyes' peace poems!" he said.

"Oh, those peace poems!"

He then added with a shudder:

"It is now universally admitted that the irritation and suffering caused by Noyes' peace poems are responsible for the present worldwide war."

WOULD DESTROY BUILDINGS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 16.— Postoffice inspectors are investigating an anonymous letter received today by Mayor Baker on hotel stationary, from Elyria, Ohio, declaring public buildings in Cleveland are to be destroyed. The writer complains against Baker's action in promoting the gift of Christmas presents for European war victims when there is great suffering in America.

CULEBRA AGAIN BLOCKS CANAL

PANAMA, Nov. 16.—Navigation is again stopped in the Panama canal today.
There was another upheaval of the bottom in the Culebra cut on the east bank north of Gold Hill late yesterday. Traffic cannot be sumed until the cut is cleared.

When you hear a man boasting that he never makes a mistake, it's a pretty good sign that he never does anything.

"Ah?" he said, as not understanding.

"Yes." Eagerly. "All my jewels! Every one."

"Oh!" His face grew sterner. She thought he might want to bargain further—that he was only holding off because he might get more. He was beginning to feel annoyed. Her persistence was as disconcerting as her methods for keeping a husband were questionable. To buy—to wheedle—any way to have her own way! How like the sex!

"See here!" he began roughly, and stopped. Something in her eyes stopped him—a light that was not a bargaining light. He could not speak roughly to her, so he bit his lip impatiently and strode to and fro. The girl watched him. He passed the table with the jewels on it and felt like kicking it over. He laughed savagely. A fine predicament! He looked at her almost resentfully.
How some men would welcome the chance to marry her. His predecessor, for example! But she wouldn't have him, no doubt, because he was willing and available. Woman's perversity! In the case of that other, however, it would, of course, be a real marriage; not such foolish business as this! He glowered at her charms and quickly she looked away. From his six feet or so of superb masculinity he gazed down at her with frowning disapproval. Her face was sad now—confound it!
What a face it was, too, when sad!

How one of his painter friends were always looking for the intangible and the inexpressible would exclaim at the sight of it. The brow like snow—the perfect profile—the eyes fixed as if studying the future!

"See here," he began again roughly, when she stepped suddenly to him. Her manner was feverish.

"It came to me, when I looked at you from behind the screen at Light of Life's, that you might not be quite like the others," she said rapidly. "I mean—I do not know quite what I mean—but you were not just as I thought you, a paid mus-tahall, must be. That thought occurred to me but I dismissed it. I was too preposterous. I forgot it. Mus-tahalls are mustahalls. But it came to me again."

"Again?" he repeated.

"Just now!"

"Why?"

"I can't exactly tell. Perhaps it was when you passed the table and looked at them—"

Her white hand indicated the jewels. "Your face seemed to say—"

He could not but smile.

His wife was certainly a versatile young woman. She had penetration and was a good deal of a sibyl.

"I can't just define it," she said, almost wearily, "only—looking at him and yet beyond him—if I can't make you do what I want without them, it may be I can't—with them.
I don't know why. It is hard to understand. You must be different from other mustahalls."

He regarded her now, not annoyed, but contemptively. Her yowlers of divination might prove disastrous. He was skating on thin ice.

"Suppose I didn't divorce you?"

he began.

"What?" He joyously.

"What would you—Amad say?"

"He—" Her voice became almost fierce. She certainly looked her aversion for that person.

"You see, he—he employed me," suggested the dervish gently.

"But he misrepresented—"

"That is true." The dervish started.

"He told you I wept. I—I!" Her laugh was like the murmur of an icy brook.

Involuntarily the dervish shivered.

"And I asked particularly about that, too," he observed. "They assured me —I mean the dyer—that I should be a benefactor."

"And you wouldn't have consented, if you had known I hated him?"

"Amad?"

"Yes, yes; if you had known I both hate and despise—that I would kill myself rather than ever go back to him?"

"Kill yourself?" he repeated. His pulses were beating stronger. It was as if he had unconsciously, even against his will, caught a little of her excitement, the tense feeling under

—"You!"

"You wouldn't have consented if you had known that?" she asked again. "Tell me quick, I must know.
Tell me!"

He started to answer impetuously; he almost did. The girl had temperament; she was most convincing and he had been nearly swept along by her. But he caught himself in time.

"I think I should have considered further before embarking on the enterprise," he returned after a moment's forced hesitation.

"You would?" There was both gladness and triumph in her tone.
His answer seemed as much, if not more, than she had expected. "I was not wrong, then, though I dared not believe—" She came closer to the young man and a contagious ex-citation seemed to emanate from her. He felt it subtly.

He moved slightly. "At least I should have made a few inquiries before committing myself," he confessed rather stiffly. Deuce take it!
What extraordinary physical beauty the girl possessed! The idea of standing so close to your wife and being afraid of touching her! He felt, on a sudden, he wanted to get away—not that there was really any danger of his making a fool of himself, or at all; he had long since got past that sort of thing. However it was time to go.

"All right," he said briskly. "I'll not divorce you." After all, his keeping her as his wife did mean little to him. His objections had been more sentimental than practical. He could afford to waive them mag-animously. "Besides, I've carried out half my contract with them," he laughed. "Enough to pay for the

BADGERS SHOVED FROM TITLE RACE

Championship Aspirants from Madison Receive a Rude Setback at Hands of Minnesotans

ONLY BADGER SCORE ON GOAL

Bellows Boots Goal from Twenty-yard Line in First Quarter; Diedrich Star at Quarter

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 16.—

Minnesota peppered Wisconsin into bewilderment with forward passes on Saturday and eliminated the Badgers from the conference football title race by a score of 14 to 3. It was the aerial game that brought all the scoring.

The Gophers were so persistent with passes that they finally made them go, one for thirty yards and a touchdown. Their tactics tempted the Badgers to a like attack, and when Wisconsin opened passes Minnesota turned them against her, Hamilton grabbing one and sprinting sixty yards for a touchdown. Wisconsin got three points on a field goal by Bellows.

Both defenses were stubborn, and for half the going it was a battle royal between the forwards. Wisconsin was the line to weaken before the ramming of Solon, until in the third quarter it tottered and in the fourth there were wide gaping holes in the Badgers' defense.

First period—Soon after Minnesota kicked off Wisconsin's line tightened and the Gophers punted. Wisconsin tried line plunges, Smith and Kreuz carrying the ball to the twenty-yard line. Bellows then kicked a field goal. On the kick-off Cummings returned the ball forty yards. Wisconsin punted, then recovered a fumble on the Gopher thirteen-yard line, and the quarter ended. Score—Wisconsin 3; Minnesota 0.

Badger Attack Vicious

Second period—Wisconsin tried a forward pass which failed. Bellows toe fumbled when sent for a kick and Solon snatched the ball. Hamilton punted out of danger. Wisconsin's attack was vicious, but Minnesota's line was too strong. Wisconsin punted and the Gophers pounded the line for inconsistent gains. Hamilton punted out of bounds to Wisconsin's fifteen-yard line. Straight football failed to gain and Bellows punted to midfield. Two forward passes failed, then Hamilton hurtled the oval thirty yards to Solon. Wisconsin took the ball on its own twenty-yard line.

After unsuccessful line plunges, Wisconsin punted to midfield. On three line plunges the Gophers gained twenty-five yards. Solon added five through center and Bierman gained three yards through left guard, placing the ball on the ten-yard line and the half ended. Score—Wisconsin 3; Minnesota 0.

Third period—Minnesota kicked to Smith, who returned the ball twenty yards. Cummings made ten yards through left guard. Bellows attempted to drop kick from the fifty-yard line, which fell short. Smith intercepted a forward pass and was downed on Minnesota's forty-yard line. Diedrich intercepted a Wisconsin pass.

Solon punted to Wisconsin's twenty-five yard line. Wisconsin fumbled the ball on a fake formation and Minnesota recovered on the Badger twenty-five yard line. A long forward pass, Hamilton to Solon, took the ball to the five-yard line, and Solon dashed over for a touchdown. Solon kicked goal.

Hamilton Raced Seventy Yards—Hamilton received the kick-off and was downed on his own thirty-yard line. Hamilton punted to Wisconsin's thirty-yard line. Bellows punted to Diedrich as the quarter ended with Minnesota holding the La Crosse received one touchdown in each of the first three quarters, but failed to kick goal. Sparta made one touchdown in the last quarter. Final score, 19 to 6 in La Crosse's favor.

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—In a hard fought game Sparta on Saturday defeated Grand Rapids on their home gridiron by a score of 13 to 0. Alex Nichols made the first score. In the next quarter John Nichols engaged in a slugging match with a Grand Rapids man, and was ruled out of the game. A few minutes later Alex Nicol had to get out because of a bad knee.

Grand Rapids played well but seldom made their first down. Sparta gained continuously.

"FAMILY SUNDAY" A BIG SUCCESS

North Presbyterian Church Crowded to the Doors to Hear Rev. Finch A.
Clarke Preach

The "Church Family Sunday" yesterday of the North Presbyterian church was one of the biggest successes ever held at the church. The idea of bringing whole families out to the morning and evening services worked out to a nicety, every pew in the church being filled. Standing room was at a premium.

Rev. Finch A. Clarke spoke in the morning on "The Four Secrets of a Happy Life" giving as the four secrets the realization of the fulfillment of a mission, optimistic cheerfulness, love and faith. His evening sermon was on "Belgium and Christian America's Greatest Opportunity."

A church family Sunday is planned as an annual event, considering the success of the plan yesterday. According to Rev. Clarke the attendance at the services yesterday were the largest in the four years of his charge here, with the exception of last Easter.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs"

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally.

Breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grownups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

MICHIGAN BEATEN BY CORNELL FIGHT

Wolverines Lose Battle After Running Up Big Lead in First Quarter; Notre Dame Beats Indiana

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16.—Michigan closed its most brilliant and most unsuccessful season, undergoing a rout by Cornell, 28 to 13.

By a brilliant open field play in which six forward passes played an important part Michigan rolled up thirteen points in the first quarter.

Having scored one touchdown in the second quarter, Cornell came back in the second half and, by Phillip's terrific plunging and Barrett's brilliant open field running, scored three touchdowns and a field goal.

Cornell needed five downs to carry the ball four yards for its first touchdown, which it made by inches.

Naubetsch and Phillip plunged almost on a par, the big Cornell back carrying the ball a great number of times. Barrett ran his team beautifully and Captain O'Hearn played the best end game ever seen on Perry field since the "point a minute" days.

Cochran's defensive work saved Michigan time and again.

Notre Dame, 48; Carlisle, 6

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 16.—Notre Dame's football warriors swamped the famed Carlisle Indians on Saturday at the White Sox ball park, outclassing the wily Redskins in every department of the game and winning by the big count of 48 to 6.

The one touchdown gained by the Indians came in the second period of play when a red skinned athlete captured a fumbled ball on Notre Dame's fifteen yard line. From there the Indians plowed their way over the goal line, mainly because of the plunging of Fullback Callac.

EAU CLAIRE HIGH SCHOOL GIRL LOST

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Nov. 16.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Lucy Glidden, 16 year old high school girl, who has not been seen since two o'clock yesterday afternoon, when she left a local doctor's office to go to the hotel where she was staying. She seems to have been swallowed up entirely and local authorities are baffled. A note found in her room at the hotel would indicate suicide, but her mother and other relatives scout this. The note addressed to Rev. A. E. Leonard, Congregational minister, said:

"I want to be buried at River Falls."

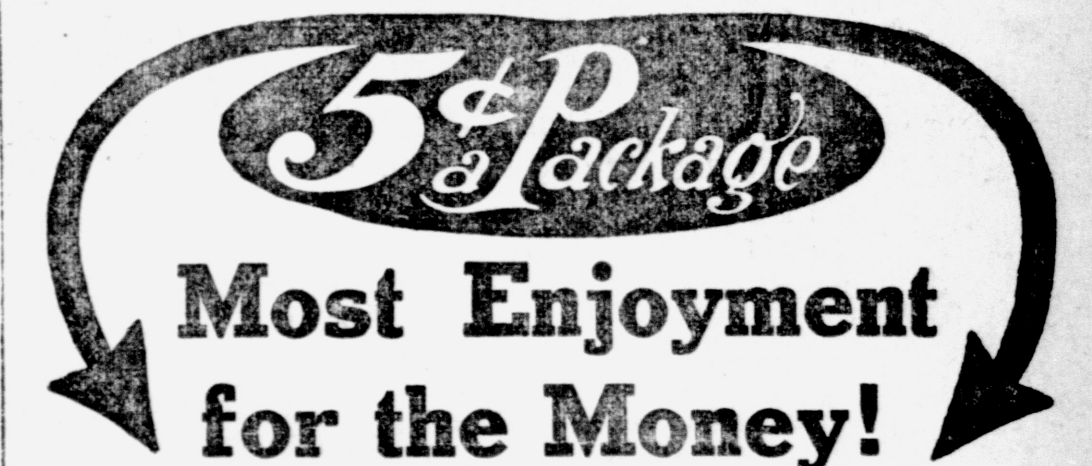

The latter place was her former home.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of hold, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

THREE POINT DROP ON COTTON MARKET

Exchange Re-opens with Steady Quotations After Closure Since July 30

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The New York Cotton exchange opened for business today promptly at 10 o'clock as scheduled. It was the first time business has been done on the exchange since a suspension on July 30, caused by the European war.

The market was steady at the opening, and the feeling was hopeful. The first trade was in December, 7.45, compared with 10.75 when business was suspended. The price coincided with expectations.

In stock exchange circles today there were many expressions of optimism over the fact that the cotton exchange opening was unattended by anything but normal conditions in that market. Many brokers termed today's resumption one of the most important steps toward restoration of normal business conditions, since the war began.

ALLEGED FORTUNE CANNOT BE FOUND

Wealth and Jewels Thought to Have Been Late Polly Draper's Are Not Unearthed After Death

What became of the alleged fortune of Polly Draper, proprietor of the old Alamo, a saloon on the South Salem road, who died recently, is still a mystery.

Cash which she was known to have had shortly before her death, together with jewelry valued at several hundred dollars, has not been found.

Habitues of the place were wont to recount the large sums which Polly treasured. They told of $3,000 in cash she exhibited but two years ago received from the sale of property in the city.

When she died a search of the house failed to reveal any of the alleged wealth.

Today Stephen Oberreich, Appleton, a son, petitioned to have the estate probated, naming its value at $1,000, most of which, said the petitioner, was in the form of personal property.

La Crosse Trust Co., has been named administrator. Memory demonstrates that it is much easier to forget than to remember what to forget.

OLD SONG REVIEW BIG MAJESTIC HIT

Splendid Bill Opens to Packed House at the Majestic Theater Sunday Afternoon

Ye Old Song Review, a good old fashioned rendering of songs of the long ago, features the bill at the Majestic for the first half of the week.

Patrons of the theater who saw the performances yesterday are a unit in declaring the bill one of the best seen at the playhouse this season.

The program is one of the headliners. Five soloists work in the song review, making the act probably the best of its kind ever seen here. The tenor has a voice which greatly pleases the audience.

The Hughes sisters, harp and violin players, delight the audience with their effective rendition of solos and duets, be they ragtime or classics. The work of the harpist received the especial commendation of the audience.

What is probably the greatest act of its caliber ever presented here is that of Franklino and Violetta, featuring the female Sandow. The woman of the act displays remarkable strength and endurance as does also the gentleman. A number of entirely new feats of strength are worked in the skit.

Earl and Edwards, comedians, work together in a classy humorous act which takes immensely. Marlettes Manikins, string-manipulated dummies, are another attraction of an excellent bill.

The orchestra, under the direction of John Andre, renders "The March of the Nations," an overture composed of the national airs of twenty-five nations of the world, not excluding that of the United States.

FOREIGN MISSION SUPPORT IS URGED

Rev. Gamm Tells of Work of Organizations and Pleads for Co-operation of the Members

A plea for better support of Lutheran missions, especially those in China, consumed the greater part of the sermon last night of Rev. Julius T. Gamm, pastor of the German Evangelical Lutheran church, West and Cameron avenues, at the service last evening of the annual mission festival held yesterday in the Norwegian Lutheran church, Sixth and Division streets.

Recounting the work being done in the Far East by the missions of both the German and the Norwegian Lutheran churches, Rev. Gamm stated that more support of the people of the United States is necessary for a successful coping of the missionaries with the problems of China, chief of which is the trouble being stirred up by the bandit White Wolf, who is terrorizing central China and threatening the Christians.

Dr. H. G. Stub, a professor in the Synodical Theological seminary of the Norwegian Lutheran church in St. Paul, gave a short talk on the excellence of the Lutheran missions in central Africa.

Rev. H. G. Magelsson, pastor of the church, spoke in appreciation of the co-operation of the German and Norwegian churches in La Crosse. Two vocal numbers were rendered by the Normanna Sangsekor and by the choir of the church.

KIDDIES' BANK EMPTIED TO BUY FLOUR FOR THE STARVING WAR-VICTIMS

A big package, heavy and clinking, lay on the desk of A. L. Goetzmann, manager of the Listman mill this morning, with an inscription that said it was to be added to the Belgian flour fund. Opened, it contained 150 pennies, from the bank of "Billy," "Buddy" and "Francis."

The kiddies' contribution was added to the fund, now reaching toward the thousand dollar mark, which La Crosse and the surrounding territory is generously building up for the dispatch of flour to the non-combatants in Belgium who are starving as the result of war's devastation.

This morning's mail brought between $150 and $200 to be added to the flour fund. Included in the amount were checks from West Salem, Banker, Viroqua, Waukon and a number of the smaller towns about La Crosse, where the Belgian appeal has touched a responsive chord. The outside contributions were from individuals. Stoddard and Galesville have started movements similar to that in La Crosse, and will purchase flour from their local mills to be added to the shipment from La Crosse.

Over one hundred dollars was the amount collected by noon today in the La Crosse banks, for the Millers' Belgian Relief fund.

"Numbers of people have promised small sums," said one banker today, "and I expect the amount, to grow by leaps and bounds this week."

TERMINAL WILL OPEN HERE SOON

Work on Building at Milwaukee Depot Completed and Active Use Will Start This Week

With the building entirely completed, and furniture being installed today, Chief Railway Postal Clerk Evans is expecting orders to open the new railroad terminal building here this week.

Situated at the intersection of the Milwaukee tracks and State street, just below Second street, the building is an addition to that part of the city.

Mail which was formerly distributed on trains will now be distributed from the terminal building. The terminal will handle mail for points as far distant as South Dakota. Six or eight men will be given permanent employment in the building here, while numbers of postal railroad clerks will lay over in La Crosse, which will practically make the city their home.

Several families are expected to move here.

ENLARGE GARAGE OF MOTOR FIRM

The work of enlarging the shop of the La Crosse Motor Car company at Main and Front streets is nearly completed. Steam fitters have just completed the installation of a steam-heated storage garage for twenty cars.

The entire first floor and basement of the Boycott building was recently leased by the company for its garage, which now comprises an office, a salesroom, a storage garage, a stockroom and two repair shops, fitted with the latest of repair apparatus and automobile machinery. The new washrack for automobiles will be completed this week. The company, which has the agency in La Crosse for the Jeffery and Glue automobiles and the Republic, Chase and Jeffery trucks, will, on the completion of the plant, have one of the best equipped garages in the city.

LUXEMBURG NOT TOUCHED BY WAR

Grand Duchy Follows Pursuits of Peace Within Sight of Stricken Fields of France

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LUXEMBURG Oct. 21.—(By courier via Maastricht and Rotterdam to New York.)—From war to peace is but a step here—literally less than three feet. Crossing from war-swept France, where the blood-red waves of human carnage are rolling high, to this little island of peace, quiet, prosperity and happiness, the contrast is most impressive.

An imaginary line separates the horrors of war from the blessings of peace. Coming from the fortress of Longwy, the gateway through which the crown prince smashed his way into France, coming from destruction and desolation, peace was in the very air as the border of Luxembourg was crossed. Slick cattle browsed in the pastures, farmers were plowing or gathering crops, birds twittered in the trees. Looking back across the line across the French fields, not a man, horse or cow was in sight. Empty waste and desolation was all that met the eye. In the French villages, only old women and aged men and children were seen. Seldom were boys over 12 years of age in evidence, but rolicking along this Luxembourg road was a crowd of sturdy, happy schoolboys between the age of 12 and 17, apparently on a day's vacation tramp through the country.

Then it was I thought of the French boy soldier with a shattered hand I had seen; another with three bullets in his body; of the German boy of 17 who went home to his mother with both eyes shot out. Then there were the English boy buglers shivering in the chill fog in the prison camp at Dohertitz, near Berlin.

The little duchy of Luxembourg is a triangular oasis of peace surrounded on every side by war. There are happy contented faces everywhere. True, there are indications of war here. There are many wounded being cared for by the Grand Duchess Adelheid and the good people of her little domain. There are German soldiers along the roads and at bridges, guarding the German lines of communication. The Luxembourg "army" has just marched by. It consists of about 250 "regulars" and 150 volunteers.

It is said here that Germany has just paid Luxembourg $100,000, for whatever damage the army did in marching through the duchy. Luxemburgers do not seem to be worrying about the violation of their neutrality a great deal. They are making good business out of the war. The duchy is rich in iron ore, farm products, and leather, and many other things the Germans need and want. They are thus getting prices which spell prosperity for them.

WAR ODDITIES

LONDON.—A London servant girl who had $25 on deposit in the post-office savings bank wrote to the postmaster general: "Please sir, close my account and send half to the Prince of Wales relief fund and the rest to the Belgians."

LONDON.—"The battle of the K's," announces the Express, "on our side K. of K.; on their side Kaiser, Krupp and Kultur."

SINGAPORE.—Makepeace is the name of the place where the German inhabitants of the straits settlements and adjacent British territories are being interned.

PARIS.—A German spy captured near Paris and shot, had on four sets of clothing—the British uniform, the French soldier's garb, his own and a woman's dress over all.

It is said the United States navy needs 18,000 men. The navy will have to do a little newspaper advertising.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

CHICAGO YARDS ARE REOPENED TODAY

Receipts About Third of the Usual Monday Run at Expiration of the Quarantine

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Perfumed with the odor of creosote, the disinfectant Chicago Stock Yards reopened today at the expiration of the ten day period of quarantine because of the foot and mouth disease.

Cattle receipts were only about one-third of the usual Monday run. Hog and sheep receipts showed similar losses.

Cattle prices at opening were only ten cents higher than on Nov. 6, the closing day, and dealers predicted that there would be no sharp advance. Consumers, they said, were already frightened over a prospect of higher prices and a sudden boost of meat prices would cause housewives to cease buying meat.

Early prices for sheep in were about the same as on November 6, but hog prices advanced 40 to 50 cents over the November 6 prices.

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 16.—The Galesburg Stock Yards were released from quarantine at 12:01 a. m. today. Several carloads of stock will leave for Chicago tonight.

MONMOUTH, Ill., Nov. 16.—Five hundred head of hogs and cattle infected with the "hoof and mouth" disease were slaughtered on three farms near here today.

OPENS FLAT TO BLAST TO OUST TENANTS

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Charles A. V. Standish, real estate agent, faced trial on the charge of disorderly conduct today, because of the methods used to oust Mrs. Stacia Broux and her two little children from a flat because her husband failed to pay the rent. The janitor removed all the doors and windows and shut off the water and steam. Hyde Park club women who found Mrs. Broux and the children shivering in the windowless flat caused the arrest of Standish.

AT THE BIJOU

TODAY marks the beginning of the new Banking System, which will, through the Federal Reserve Banks, correct the defects of the National Banking System.

By mobilizing the supply of gold and the bank reserves, providing a sure and sufficient supply of currency and a place of rediscount, the possibility of financial disturbances such as this country has seen in the past, will be largely removed.

It is a matter of pride to us that this Bank believed in the necessity and wisdom of this legislation and the patriotism of the heads of our Government at Washington, in the face of a determined and partisan opposition on the part of many others, and that this bank was the FIRST BANK in this Reserve District to apply for membership in the new system.

It should be a matter of satisfaction to the people of this Federal Reserve District, that today this is the most prosperous section of the United States. With the large crops, its conservative business men and its strong banks, conditions are more nearly normal here than elsewhere.

The management of this bank has always believed that a bank should use its deposits to aid all legitimate business in this community, in a safe and conservative way, and within the limitation of the National Bank Act and the close supervision of its Board of Directors.

Its surplus funds have for years been largely invested in high grade commercial paper, easily and quickly liquidated in time of unusual local demand, such paper as will be accepted for Rediscount by the Federal Reserve Bank.

As a result of this policy, this Bank was enabled during the period of disturbance following the beginning of the European war, to supply all legitimate demands for currency, to supply all demands for loans from its customers and to purchase large amounts of commercial paper to help the movement of the crops and the manufacturing and business interests elsewhere, without the issue of emergency currency, without rediscounting, without impairment of our usual reserves, so common in other sections.

Below is a copy of our last statement to the Comptroller. Note the large Stockholders' Responsibility, in proportion to the Deposits—over ONE MILLION DOLLARS—the ample reserves, the liquid assets—two-thirds of our loans mature within ninety days, all within six months—and the Officers and Directors have no hesitation in saying they believe the assets are worth at least the amount for which they are carried.

Great Singers Must be "Tobacco Wise"

Tuxedo is the Tobacco Chosen by Opera Stars

MEN who depend upon their voices come to know tobacco as the ordinary smoker never knows it. A sensitive throat or mouth feels the slightest sting, bite or scorch of tobacco.

Tuxedo is the one tobacco which singers, actors, public speakers—all men who guard their throats zealously—can smoke with pleasure and safety.

Tuxedo tobacco cannot sting, bite or irritate the delicate membranes of the mouth or throat.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

Tuxedo tobacco has made thousands of men converts to the pipe, because it has made pipe-smoking possible for them. Under the famous "Tuxedo Process" the mild, tender leaves of the highest grade Burley tobacco are so skillfully treated that Tuxedo burns slowly and affords a cool, mild, thoroughly enjoyable pipe smoke.

Leading men in all walks of life—well-known doctors, lawyers, ministers, lecturers, etc.—smoke Tuxedo and testify to its soothing influence on the throat.

which made the open plays of the lighter Madison team difficult to handle.

Kelly of La Crosse scored the first touchdown in the second quarter, after going down the field by straight football scrimmage. Reget kicked a beautiful drop kick from the forty yard line, but the score was not counted because of holding by the La Crosse men. The next touchdown was made by Kulcynski, who ran forty yards with a forward pass from Zeisler, in the third quarter. The most spectacular play of the game was made in this quarter when Reget recovered a fumbled punt, and ran 70 yards directly through the Madison team for a touchdown. Every La Crosse man hit his opponent making a clear track. The last touchdown was made by Kulcynski in the last quarter on an end around play. La Crosse also had the ball within a foot of Madison's goal at two other times, but failed to score on account of the strong team work of the capital city boys.

After the first quarter, it was apparent that Madison had no chance against their husky northern opponents. The "heavy artillery" attack, led by Reget and Kulcynski had Madison puzzled from the start. The other two backfield men, Feinberg and Kelly, were not far behind their more dashing mates and taken as a whole the La Crosse backs formed a combination that is hard to equal in high school football circles. The interference was excellent and the men picked their openings well. The work defensively was also of first class order. Captain Fay, at center being especially strong.

For Madison, Lippert and Fuller, the veterans of three seasons shone to best advantage. Fuller ran his team well and saved Madison's line from being crossed for additional touchdowns by his long well placed punts. Lippert played a great game at tackle and was the one Madison forward that outplayed his man.

The lineup:

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. Chas. A. Benschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

LONE TOUCHDOWN DEFEATS NORMAL

Platteville Scores Touchdown in Second Period and Hold Lead for Rest of Game

STRUM OUT; KICKED IN HEAD

Byers Plays with Fingers in Splints; Dickens Plays Hard Game at Tackle

La Crosse normal went down to defeat Saturday at the hands of the fast Platteville team to the tune of 6 to 0. The superior teamwork and "pep" of the visitors was the cause and the locals were forced to take the back seat to the southerners. The game was hard fought and time and time again time was called for by both sides. Both teams seemed to lack the necessary ginger to run high scores. The teams were evenly matched with respect to weight. Knockouts were frequent. Quarterback Strum was the man who suffered the most as the result of a kick in the head in the third quarter. He was knocked unconscious and was unable to finish the mix.

First Period

Platteville won the toss and chose to defend the south goal with the advantage of the wind. In two downs Fellows for Platteville gained thirty yards. Platteville failed to gain and was forced to punt to La Crosse. Oliver recovered a forward pass and gained fifteen yards, and later Immell made a gain of twenty yards. La Crosse suffered an early penalty of fifteen yards and was forced to punt. Platteville then spurred forward and with a succession of passes brought the ball to within five yards of the goal. With two line plunges the pigskin was shoved across the line for the only score of the game. Barron failed to kick goal. Byers replaced Adams at right half and the quarter ended with both teams working furiously on the thirty yard line.

Second Quarter

In the second frame the normalites spurred and carried the ball thirty yards by spectacular end runs by Strum. La Crosse then lost the ball on an incomplete pass and Fellows again gained twenty yards. Dickens for the locals tackled hard and laid out two men. La Crosse braced and held, their opponents being forced to punt. La Crosse recovered near the goal. Strum gained thirty yards on an end run and the half ended with the score 6 to 0.

Third Quarter

Captain Strum chose to receive the kick off. In two downs he gained thirty yards and Immell added five more. La Crosse lost the ball on a fumble. Dickens again opened up with some hard tackles and was laid out. It was at first feared he had cracked his collarbone. Jackson was sent in to replace Marcou for the locals at left guard. La Crosse gained the ball on fumbles and worked furiously. At this stage Strum was knocked insensible. At first it was not noticed that he was hurt. He went to his position but failed to give the signals and fell back to the ground and babbled with delirium. He was thoroughly stunned and did not revive until after the game. It was thought at first that he had concussion of the brain. Scorgill replaced Strum and the quarter ended with the ball near the forty yard line.

Final Period

In the last quarter the locals were fighting hard for a touchdown but lost the ball on an incomplete pass. Both sides exchanged punts. Platteville suffered numerous penalties for holding and offside play. Lewis replaced Byers for the locals. Platteville ran the ball to their ten yard line near the end of the quarter and with a series of line plunges brought the ball to within a foot of the line. In the next down the whistle sounded before the play was started, saving the locals from another touchdown.

The score by periods:
Platteville 6 0 0 0—6

The lineup:
Normal—Erickson, lg; Wachter, lg; Marcou, lg; Tobey, c; LaFramboise, rg; Dickens, rt; Bull, re; Strum (captain), qb; Immell, fb; Adams, rh; Mason, lb.

Platteville—Oliver, lg; Hennig, lg; Sherman, lg; Smith, c; Schumann, rg; Cleary, rt; Slothover, re; Millmann, qb; Barron, fb; Fellows (captain), rh; Gans, lb.

Referee—Schell (Kansas Aggies). Umpire—Spence (Wisconsin). Head linesman—Kline (Indiana).

ILLINI PUT PEG IN CONFERENCE TITLE

Zuppke Men Practically Clinch "Big Nine" Title by Defeating Maroons; Purdue eats Purple

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 16.—Illini practically clinched the conference football championship on Saturday when Bob Zuppke's great machine, headed by his wonderful pair of runners, Pogue and Clark, defeated Chicago by a score of 21 to 7.

Illini's victory came as an intensely dramatic finale to a sensational battle in which the Illini came from behind, fought an uphill fight, for Chicago scored early and maintained a lead until the third period when the score was even. Then came the fourth period, with the score 7 to 7, and both teams keyed up to a grim contest.

Harold Pogue was the great factor in the uphill struggle of the Illini. The little runner, for a long time, was the only man able to gain to any extent. Grappled by numerous adversaries, time and again he broke loose when it seemed impossible and made gains. The Illini generalship seemed at fault in the second period which was played entirely in Maroon territory for Clark failed to call on Pogue at critical times.

Purdue, 34; Purple, 6

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 16.—Purdue gave Northwestern another shove downward on Saturday, defeating the Purple's green squad, 34 to 6. The Boilermakers have the honor of running up the highest score of the season on Murphy's men, beating the Illinois score one point. But the visitors also were the first conference team to have the Purple score against them.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy", you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.
